HOW TO USE THIS DOCUMENT

This is an operating manual, not an inspirational deck. Sections I–IV are strategy and should be read end-to-end before any video is filmed. Sections V–VII are the execution plan for the first 30 days. Sections VIII–XII are running references — open them as needed.

I Reality check

Before tactics, the truth about what TikTok monetization actually looks like for a Nigerian-founded wellness brand in 2026.

WHAT "MONETIZATION" REALLY MEANS HERE

TikTok's own creator payouts (Creator Fund, Creator Rewards Program, LIVE Gifts) are the most over-promised, under-delivering income source on the internet. They pay creators in the US/UK roughly $0.40 to $1.00 per 1,000 qualified views — and they are not available to creators registered in Nigeria at all. Building a strategy around platform payouts would be a strategic error.

For Pinnacle, the real money on TikTok flows through three channels, in this order:

1. Direct sales to pinnacleorg.com driven by content. This is the heart of it. Every other channel is a feeder to this one.
2. The Pinnacle Circle membership ($29/month, recurring) driven by content that builds long-term trust in Mercy.
3. 1:1 coaching ($180/session) and diaspora TikTok Shop sales as higher-margin add-ons.

WHAT THIS MEANS FOR MERCY AND FOR THE FACELESS ACCOUNT

The two accounts have very different jobs and very different success metrics. Confusing them is the single most common mistake.

	MERCY (FACE ACCOUNT)	PINNACLE (FACELESS)
Job	Build authority and trust in the person	Drive direct product purchase
Sells	Coaching · Circle membership · halo for products	Individual SKUs · sets · subscriptions
Tone	Personal, opinionated, mentor	Aspirational, sensorial, demonstrative
Success metric	Saves & shares per video; profile visits; DMs	Link clicks & conversions; Shop add-to-carts
Posting	4–6 a week, batched weekly	1–2 a day, ruthlessly templated

REALISTIC EXPECTATIONS — THE FIRST 90 DAYS

Anyone promising you "millions of views in 30 days" is selling you something. Here is what a well-executed Pinnacle launch looks like in the first quarter:

- Days 0–30: 5,000–25,000 followers across both accounts. First 10–40 product sales attributable to TikTok (measured with a TikTok-only discount code). One or two videos break 100k views — most settle under 5k. This is normal.
- Days 31–60: First viral video (200k+) — almost always not the one you predicted. First 5–15 Circle memberships from TikTok. First 1–3 coaching bookings. You begin to see what the audience actually wants.
- Days 61–90: Predictable inbound — somewhere between 30 and 200 product orders/month from TikTok traffic, 10–40 new Circle members, a clear sense of the two or three video formats that print money for you.

IF BY DAY 60 YOU HAVE NOT HAD ANY VIDEO OVER 50,000 VIEWS AND NO MEASURABLE SALES

Something in the content/positioning is wrong — not the platform. Re-read sections III and V and rework the hook formula. Do not double the volume; double the iteration.

II Account architecture

Two accounts, run from two phones, with two completely different briefs. This is the structural decision the rest of the plan rests on.

ACCOUNT A — @MERCYIKPE (THE FACE ACCOUNT)

The flagship. Mercy on camera, almost always speaking directly to a single woman through the screen. This account is not about Pinnacle products in the foreground — it is about Mercy being the most trusted wellness voice in your audience's feed. Products are mentioned in passing, the way a friend mentions what is on her bedside table.

- Display name: "Mercy Ikpe · Wellness, honestly"
- Bio: Wellness for the woman with a full life · Founder, Pinnacle · Lagos & London. Link: pinnacleorg.com
- Profile picture: the mercy-portrait shot, cropped tightly to the face. Warm, smiling but composed.
- Pinned videos: rotate every 3–4 weeks — one "who I am," one signature take, one tutorial.
- Linktree vs. direct link: use a single direct link to pinnacleorg.com/?utm_source=tt&utm_medium=bio&utm_campaign=mercy. No Linktree — friction kills conversion.

ACCOUNT B — @PINNACLE.WELLNESS (THE FACELESS BRAND ACCOUNT)

The product channel. No Mercy on camera. The aesthetic is sensorial and shoppable: hands, surfaces, glass, water, light, satin, ritual. Voice is voice-over (Mercy or a hired voice — both work; consistency matters more than identity). The content is closer to a Sephora reel than a personal vlog.

- Display name: "Pinnacle · Wellness rituals"
- Bio: Skin · supplements · scent · stillness · A women-led wellness house from Lagos. Shop ↓
- Profile picture: the pinnacle-logo asset on cream background.
- Pinned videos: the highest-converting product demo, the founder-story 60-sec edit, and a "what we make" carousel video.

WHY NOT JUST ONE ACCOUNT

The TikTok algorithm rewards niche tightness. A face account that suddenly posts a faceless product B-roll trains the algorithm against both kinds of content and dilutes the audience. The two-account split also lets you post 2–3× more total content per day without burning Mercy out — the faceless account is templated and can be run by a junior teammate from a content shoot day.

SHOULD YOU ALSO RUN NICHE PAGES (ACCOUNT C, D...)

Eventually yes; not at launch. Once one of your existing pages is consistently breaking 100k views per post, spin up a single-product niche page — for example a Velvet Glow Serum-only page that lives or dies on skincare-results content. Until then, focus is the multiplier.

CONCRETE SETUP STEPS

Both accounts should be created on the SIM and device they will live on — never transferred between devices later (it can trigger review). Use Mercy's business email for Account A and a dedicated wellness operations email (e.g. tiktok@pinnacleorg.com) for Account B. Switch both to

BUSINESS ACCOUNTS

after the first 7 days, choosing the category "Beauty & Personal Care."

THE TWO-PHONE RULE

Each account on its own device, its own SIM, its own Wi-Fi-or-mobile pattern. TikTok's risk system pays attention to device fingerprints. Running both accounts from one phone, switching back and forth, is the single most common trigger for low-reach periods on new accounts. Even an inexpensive second Android dedicated to the faceless account pays for itself.

III Positioning

Who Pinnacle is for on TikTok — narrower than the website's audience, on purpose.

THE TIKTOK PERSONA, WRITTEN SHARPLY

She is 28–42. She lives in Lagos, Abuja, London, or Houston. She has a job, possibly children, and a body that has started to ask different things of her than it did at 25. She has tried random supplements and given up. She is suspicious of "wellness influencers" but hungry for someone who sounds like she could be her older sister. She buys things that make her feel like she is taking herself seriously.

She is not: a teenager, a "clean girl" aesthetic chaser, a quick-fix shopper, a deal hunter. None of these convert to Circle membership or repeat collagen orders, which is where Pinnacle actually makes money.

THE FOUR CONTENT LANES, AND WHAT EACH IS FOR

1. Authority & education

Mercy explaining why something works or doesn't — collagen types, magnesium forms, retinol vs. bakuchiol, hyperpigmentation in melanin-rich skin. This builds the trust that makes Circle membership and coaching feel obvious.

2. Personal & behind-the-curtain

Mercy's actual mornings, her own routine, why she started Pinnacle, the things her customers say to her in DMs. This is the parasocial layer. People buy from people they feel they know.

3. Sensorial product

Faceless. The roll-on gliding, the serum dropper, the collagen powder dissolving, the candle being lit. Close, slow, beautiful. Designed to be re-watched and saved.

4. Results & proof

Customer DMs read aloud (with permission). Real before-and-afters. Mercy reacting to messages. This is the highest-converting lane but it must be earned — never fabricated.

THE VOICE RULES — WRITTEN IN ONE PARAGRAPH

Direct. Warm. Specific. Never breathless. Never "babe" or "girlies." Never "literally obsessed." Mercy speaks the way an older Nigerian woman who works in healthcare speaks — clear, slightly amused, willing to disagree. The faceless account uses the same vocabulary but in short, declarative voice-over: "Three drops. On clean skin. Before the moisturizer. Every morning."

WHAT WE NEVER DO

- Trend-chase content that has nothing to do with skin, sleep, supplements, scent, or self.
- Dances. Trending sounds for the sake of them. Lip-syncs.
- Aggressive promotional language: "RUN don't walk," "you NEED this." It cheapens the brand and depresses conversion in our demographic.
- Comparing or naming competitors directly. Always speak to the category, never the rival.

- Health claims we cannot defend on paper. See Section X.

IV The seven revenue streams

Ranked from highest expected contribution to lowest, with what each requires and what to expect.

1 · Direct sales to pinnacleorg.com

PRIMARY

The single largest revenue line on TikTok for Pinnacle, by a wide margin. Every video — even pure authority content — should ladder back to "if you want to try this, the link is in my bio." Use a TikTok-only discount code (TT15 or similar, 15% off first order) so you can attribute revenue cleanly.

What you need

The auto-deploy is live (PR #6), so the site updates fast. A TikTok-only discount code in your checkout. UTM parameters on the bio link.

What it pays

Average order value of $35–80, blended margin around 55–70%. Expect 1–3% link-click-to-purchase conversion once you find your audience.

Watch out for

The "link in bio" friction. Every step costs you 30–60% of clicks. Direct URL, no Linktree, no app installs.

2 · Pinnacle Circle membership ($29/month, recurring)

PRIMARY

The most underrated revenue stream you have. A Circle member is worth roughly $200–$400 in lifetime value at typical wellness-membership churn. TikTok is unusually good at driving membership signups because it builds the parasocial trust membership requires. The bridge: Mercy talks honestly about wellness for a few weeks, viewers become fans, fans want more access — Circle is the obvious next step.

How to drive it

One Circle-mention video per week on Mercy's account ("we did our member call this morning and someone asked the question I get every week..."). Never a hard sell — always a peek through the curtain.

What it pays

$$29 \times 12 \text{ months} \times \text{retention rate (target 65\%+)} \approx $225 \text{ LTV per member.}$

3 · 1:1 Coaching with Mercy ($180/session)

PRIMARY

The highest-ticket item in the catalog and the one TikTok converts surprisingly well. Authority content earns its keep here. A single 60-second video where Mercy answers a real question from her DMs can fill her booking calendar for weeks. The bottleneck is Mercy's time — cap visible booking slots at what is sustainable (start with 4/week).

How to drive it

Q&A-style videos answering one specific reader question per video, ending with "if you want to actually map this out for your own body, my 1:1 is in the bio."

What it pays

$180 per session, ~85% margin. Halo effect: ~60% of coaching clients become product or Circle customers.

4 · TikTok Shop sales (diaspora — UK, US)

SECONDARY

TikTok Shop is fully operational in the US and UK, partially in select EU markets, and not yet live for Nigerian-registered sellers as of mid-2026. This is workable but requires you set up a fulfillment node in either the UK or the US — a 3PL warehouse that holds 60–90 days of inventory of your highest-velocity SKUs (Collagen, Velvet Serum, Calm Magnesium, the bestseller roll-ons). The TikTok Shop entity must be registered in that country.

What you need

A UK Ltd or US LLC (a corporate services agent can set this up for £400–$800), a 3PL contract (ShipBob, Fulfillrite, James & James), and a bank account in that geography for payouts.

What it pays

TikTok Shop takes ~5% referral fee + payment processing. Net margins lower than DTC but the cart friction is lower, so conversion is 2–4× higher on the same content.

Watch out for

Supplements have additional content restrictions on TikTok Shop. Skincare and fragrance pass through more easily. Start with the skincare and fragrance SKUs.

5 · LIVE selling

SECONDARY

Mercy goes LIVE once or twice a week — 45–75 minutes — and walks through one product theme (e.g. "evening wind-down rituals" — features Magnesium + Silk Cream + Midnight Bloom). In NG the conversion is to a payment link dropped in chat; in UK/US it can be direct-to-shop checkout once TikTok Shop is live. See Section IX for the full LIVE playbook.

What it pays

A well-run 60-min LIVE in month three typically converts $300–$1,500 in sales for an audience of 50–200 concurrent viewers. The number scales roughly linearly.

6 · Affiliate creators

SECONDARY

Wellness micro-creators with 5k–80k followers, paid 15–25% commission on tracked sales (use unique codes per creator). In NG you'll manage this manually — a creator gets a code and a UTM link. In UK/US it can go through TikTok Shop's official affiliate marketplace once your Shop is live. Start with 5–10 hand-picked creators, not 50.

How to find them

Search "collagen" / "magnesium for sleep" / "vitamin c serum" in TikTok, sort by recent, look for creators with strong engagement (likes > 8% of follower count) and audiences that fit our persona. Cold DM with a sample box, not a long pitch.

7 · Brand sponsorships (non-competing)

LATER

Once Mercy's account passes ~50k followers with strong engagement, non-competing brands (lingerie, athleisure, slow-fashion, fertility, beauty tech, hospitality) will reach out. Reject anything that competes or that you wouldn't personally use. Charge $800–$3,500 per integrated post depending on follower count and engagement. This is gravy income, not the core plan. Cap it at one sponsored post per month to protect the audience.

WHAT IS EXPLICITLY NOT ON THIS LIST

Creator Fund / Creator Rewards: not available to Nigerian-registered accounts and not worth optimizing for elsewhere.

LIVE Gifts: minor and not worth diluting tone for. Selling courses: don't — Circle does the same job better and stays recurring. Selling generic affiliate products (Amazon supplements): destroys trust, never do it.

V The content engine

The five pillars, the hook formula, the formats, and a bank of 30 hooks you can use this week.

OUTPUT TARGET, MONTH ONE

	MERCY ACCOUNT	FACELESS ACCOUNT	TOTAL
Long-form (40–90s)	3/week	1/week	16/month
Short-form (8–25s)	2/week	5/week	28/month
LIVE	1/week, 45–75 min	—	4/month
Total videos	~22	~24	~46

This is hitting volume without grinding. The trick is batch production: one content shoot day every two weeks produces 12–16 Mercy videos; the faceless account produces 6–8 videos from a single afternoon of product B-roll.

THE FIVE CONTENT PILLARS

P1. Honest education

"Most marine collagen on the market is under-dosed. Here is what the label should actually say." Builds authority. ~30% of Mercy posts.

P2. Ritual & routine

Mercy's evening, her morning, her travel routine, her wind-down. Products appear in the frame without being sold. ~25% of Mercy posts.

P3. DMs & replies

"Someone asked me yesterday whether you can take magnesium with iron. Here is the answer." Easy, recurring, high-trust. ~20% of Mercy posts.

P4. Story & conviction

Why Pinnacle exists, the customer she built it for, what makes her angry about the industry. ~15% of Mercy posts.

P5. Sensorial product (faceless account, 100%)

Glass, hands, water, light, satin. Close, slow, beautiful. Voiceover or text-only. Designed for repeat-watch and save.

THE HOOK FORMULA — THE FIRST 1.5 SECONDS

TikTok decides whether to keep showing your video to people based primarily on what happens in the first second and a half. Every video on either account needs a hook that does one of these four things, on screen and out loud at the same time:

1. Contradict received wisdom. "Drinking more water won't fix your skin."
2. Name the viewer's exact private problem. "If you wake up at 3am every single night —"

3. Promise a specific small payoff. "Three things you can stop buying immediately."
4. Pattern interrupt with a visual. Faceless account: extreme close-up of serum dropper on lid; pour; pull back to wide. One second total.

THE HOOK TEST

Before you film, write the hook as a complete sentence. Read it aloud. If your only honest reaction is "okay, sure," scrap it. The reaction you want is "wait, what — really?"

30-HOOK BANK — COPY FROM THIS LIST

Half of these are for Mercy (authority/personal), half for the faceless account (sensorial/product). Mix and match.

1. "Most collagen powders in Nigeria are under-dosed. Here is how to read the label."
2. "The 3am wake-up isn't stress. It's magnesium."
3. "Your skin isn't dehydrated. It's inflamed. Different fix."
4. "I stopped buying these four things in 2024 and my skin completely changed."
5. "What no one tells you about hyperpigmentation in melanin-rich skin."
6. "A woman in my DMs asked me this last night and I'll answer it for everyone."
7. "If you take iron, do not take it with this."
8. "Three signs your gut is the actual problem (not your skin, not your hormones)."
9. "I founded a wellness brand and here is one product I genuinely think most people are wasting money on."
10. "The single hardest thing about being 38 that no one warned me about."
11. "What I take, in the order I take it. Nothing else."
12. "Stop buying retinol if you have not done these two things first."
13. "This is what I do the night before a long flight."
14. "The reason your serum isn't working is your moisturizer."
15. "Three drops. On clean skin. Before the moisturizer. Every morning." (faceless, V.O.)
16. "Slow pour. Cold water. Dissolve in ten seconds." (faceless, V.O.)
17. "Before any event, in this exact order." (faceless)
18. "The fragrance you reach for when no one will see you." (faceless)
19. "Two capsules. Thirty minutes before bed. That's the whole instruction." (faceless)
20. "Why we put bakuchiol in the night cream instead of retinol." (faceless, V.O. + label closeup)
21. "The roll-on you wear when you don't want to be remembered for your perfume." (faceless)
22. "This is the difference between a $20 collagen and a $48 collagen — on the label." (faceless, side-by-side)
23. "How a Nigerian woman in Lagos and one in Houston use this exact same routine."
24. "My customer wrote me this. I cried in the car."
25. "The supplement I quietly recommend to my own sister."
26. "What my morning looks like on the day before a Pinnacle Circle call."
27. "If you can only do one thing for your skin this week, do this."
28. "The reason I started Pinnacle, in 45 seconds."
29. "What you should actually do in the first 5 minutes after you wake up."

30. "Why I priced the 1:1 the way I did — and who it isn't for."

BATCH PRODUCTION CALENDAR

Shoot day every other Saturday: 4 hours Mercy on camera (10–14 short videos written and shot back-to-back, three changes of outfit, two backdrops). Shoot day Wednesday afternoon for faceless: 2 hours of product B-roll yields 8–12 short videos. Editing fits a Sunday afternoon. Once the rhythm is in, the calendar runs itself.

VIII TikTok Shop & diaspora distribution

The actual logistics of getting Pinnacle on TikTok Shop where it pays the best.

WHERE TIKTOK SHOP IS AND ISN'T (MID-2026)

MARKET	TIKTOK SHOP STATUS	ACTION
Nigeria	Not live for NG-registered sellers	Drive to pinnacleorg.com directly; use NG-local payment links in LIVES.
United Kingdom	Fully operational	Set up UK Ltd + 3PL — recommended first international market.
United States	Fully operational	Set up after UK is stable. Higher volume, more competition.
Ireland, France, Germany, Italy, Spain	Partial — beauty & skincare live; supplements gated	Wait for category to open or sell through UK pan-EU.
Canada, Australia, UAE	Various rollouts	Skip until UK + US are running smoothly.

THE MINIMUM-VIABLE UK SETUP

1. UK Ltd company. Use a service like 1st Formations or Companies Made Simple. £30–£100. Takes 24 hours.
2. UK business bank account. Wise Business or Revolut Business. 7–14 days approval. Need company docs.
3. 3PL warehouse contract. James & James, Huboo, or ShipBob UK. Send 60 days of inventory of: Collagen, Velvet Serum, Calm Magnesium, Silk Cream, all five roll-ons, both fragrances. Skip the Coaching/Circle SKUs — those stay on pinnacleorg.com.
4. TikTok Shop seller registration. Through the UK Ltd. Category: Health & Personal Care · Beauty & Personal Care. Submit lab COAs for each supplement SKU; submit cosmetic safety reports for skincare. Allow 2–3 weeks for category approval.
5. Link the Pinnacle TikTok account. Same TikTok handle, now Shop-enabled in UK geography. Mercy's account can also have Shop enabled — it will show product tags in her videos.

WHAT TO LIST, WHAT NOT TO LIST

- List first: Velvet Glow Serum, Silk Cream, Gentle Cleanser, Event-Ready Set, all roll-ons, both fragrances. Skincare and fragrance clear TikTok Shop review fastest.
- List second (after first 30 days clean): Collagen+, Magnesium, Gut Reset. Supplements get more scrutiny — established seller history helps.
- Don't list: 1:1 Coaching, Pinnacle Circle. Services and subscriptions are awkward on TikTok Shop. Keep these on pinnacleorg.com where the experience is better.

INVENTORY COMMITMENT IS THE COST GATE

Realistically, the UK Shop setup costs about £8,000–£15,000 in inventory + ~£600/month in 3PL minimums before you see meaningful revenue. Do not start this until Mercy's account or the faceless account has consistently broken 10k followers and you've validated that TikTok-attributed sales to pinnacleorg.com are happening at all. Setting it up too early ties up cash with nothing flowing through it.

IX LIVE selling

The single highest-leverage hour of Mercy's TikTok week, if she runs it right.

THE FORMAT THAT WORKS

Once a week, Sunday evening Lagos time (which is good UK time too and acceptable US East Coast). 60 minutes. Mercy on camera, ring light, single product theme. Not "shop my whole store" — that loses people in five minutes.

THE 60-MINUTE LIVE STRUCTURE

MIN	WHAT HAPPENS
0–8	Soft open. Mercy says hello, talks about her week. No selling. The algorithm is deciding whether to show this LIVE to more people based on early engagement.
8–18	The theme of the night ("Sunday wind-down" / "Skin Sunday" / "Fragrance & presence"). One core product explained slowly, with the science.
18–25	Demo. Use the product on camera. Take questions while doing it.
25–35	Open Q&A — viewers ask about their own situations. Mercy answers honestly. This is the trust hour.
35–45	Second product, paired with the first. Brief.
45–55	The offer. LIVE-exclusive bundle, code <code>LIVE15</code> , 15% off, expires when LIVE ends. Drop the link/code repeatedly.
55–60	Soft close. Thank-yous. Invite to Circle if it feels right. Sign off.

LIVE RULES

- One topic per LIVE. Mercy is not running a department store. She is hosting a salon.
- Stay for the full 60 minutes even if only 12 people are watching. The algorithm rewards endurance and you'll learn what early audiences ask about.
- Have a moderator (your assistant or a Circle member) pinning the discount code, answering basic questions, blocking trolls. Do not moderate while presenting.
- Always end with a single clear call to action. Either "code expires when this LIVE ends, here is the link," or "I'm opening 3 coaching slots tomorrow, watch my DMs." One.

- Track per-LIVE: peak concurrent, total unique viewers, code redemptions, new follows. Note which themes converted best — this is your most valuable data.

WHAT TO LIVE-BUNDLE, BY THEME

THEME	ANCHOR PRODUCT	BUNDLE PAIR	OFFER
Sunday wind-down	Calm Magnesium	+ Silk Cream + Midnight Bloom	$15 off the trio
Skin Sunday	Velvet Serum	+ Silk Cream + Cleanser	Event-Ready Set + free roll-on
Glow from within	Collagen+	+ Gut Reset	10% off the stack, free month of Circle for new buyers
Fragrance & presence	Midnight Bloom	+ matching Amber Veil roll-on	Bundle at $42 vs $46 separately

X The rules — claims you can and cannot make

The single most likely reason a wellness brand's TikTok account is suspended or its content is suppressed.

THIS IS NOT OPTIONAL

TikTok's Community Guidelines on health content and Pinnacle's own regulatory exposure (NAFDAC in Nigeria, MHRA in the UK, FDA in the US) both demand the same discipline. Read this page twice. When in doubt, scrub the claim.

NEVER SAY — FOR SUPPLEMENTS (COLLAGEN, MAGNESIUM, GUT RESET)

- "Cures" / "treats" / "prevents" any named condition (insomnia, IBS, depression, eczema, acne, anything).
- "Doctor recommended" unless you can produce a specific named, licensed doctor who has on-record recommended Pinnacle.
- "Clinically proven" unless you can produce a published study on the exact formulation. "Clinically formulated" is acceptable; "clinically proven" is not.
- "Replaces medication" / "you can stop taking your [X]" — never, under any circumstance.
- Specific percentages of efficacy you cannot cite ("85% of women see results in 14 days") unless you ran the study and have it on file.

SAFE TO SAY — FOR SUPPLEMENTS

- "Supports [skin, sleep, gut, hair, mood]" — supplement-safe language in NG, UK, US.
- "Customers tell me they sleep better/feel less bloated/their skin looks brighter." Attribution to customer testimony, not product claim.
- "Designed to support" / "formulated to help with" — soft, defensible.
- Personal experience: "Here is what I noticed." Mercy speaking about her own body is not a product claim.

NEVER SAY — FOR SKINCARE

- "Eliminates" / "removes" wrinkles, scars, hyperpigmentation.
- "Anti-aging" — increasingly regulated; use "supports skin firmness" instead.
- "Dermatologist tested" without a dermatologist on file.
- Before-and-after photos without explicit written permission from the person in the photo, and where you cannot prove the second photo was the same person under similar lighting conditions.

SAFE TO SAY — FOR SKINCARE

- "Brightens the appearance of dark spots," "supports an even skin tone," "visibly firmer." The word "appearance" is your friend.
- "In a survey of our customers, [X] said [Y]." Survey-style claims are defensible if you actually surveyed people.
- "Pregnancy-safe" — only for the Silk Cream and the Cleanser. Confirm your formulator agrees on paper.

FTC, ASA, NAFDAC — DISCLOSURES

- Any video where Mercy is selling Pinnacle products is, by definition, an ad — even on her own account. Use #ad or "This is my brand" visibly in the first 3 seconds. TikTok provides a "Disclose video content" toggle in the post screen; use it.
- Affiliate creators must declare a commercial relationship — provide them with the language to use.
- Customer testimonials require written permission and should disclose if the person received the product free or for compensation.

XI Analytics — what to look at, what to ignore

A short list. Most TikTok dashboards are noise.

WEEKLY REVIEW — 15 MINUTES, EVERY MONDAY MORNING

METRIC	WHERE	WHAT TO DO WITH IT
TT15-attributed orders	Your e-commerce backend	The number that matters most. Compare week-over-week.
Bio link clicks	TikTok Studio · Profile	Click-to-order ratio = your funnel health.
Top 3 videos this week, by Saves	TikTok Studio · Content	Saves are the most reliable predictor of long-tail reach. Replicate the format.
Top 3 videos by Profile Visits	TikTok Studio · Content	These are the ones converting viewers to followers. Replicate the topic.
Watch time on Mercy > 50%	TikTok Studio · per video	Anything under 50% means the hook is weak. Edit harder, cut the first 0.5 seconds.
Follower growth, both accounts	TikTok Studio	Vanity metric — don't optimize for it directly, but it is a useful trailing indicator.

WHAT TO IGNORE

- Likes. Cheap signal. Doesn't predict revenue.
- Comments count alone. A controversial video can get many comments and zero orders. Look at comment sentiment, not count.
- Single-video view counts in isolation. A 30k-view video about a $48 product can outearn a 500k-view video about something cheap.
- Other creators' follower counts. Comparisons make you mimic; mimics never convert as well as originals.

XII Crisis playbook

What to do when things go wrong — and they will, periodically.

THE SLUMP (VIEWS SUDDENLY DROP 80%+)

1. First, check whether you violated a guideline — re-read your last 10 videos for any wording in Section X. If yes, delete and submit appeal.
2. If no violation, post nothing new for 48 hours. Do not "post your way out" of a slump — it deepens it.
3. Day 3, post a single, lower-stakes video. If that video gets normal reach, you're back. If not, post a 60-second simple-to-camera personal video the next day.
4. If after 7 days of normal posting reach is still suppressed, that is a shadowban. Take 14 days off the account completely. It almost always clears.

COPYRIGHT STRIKE (USING A SOUND OR CLIP)

1. Don't appeal on autopilot — strikes accumulate. Confirm whether you have actual rights or fair use; if not, accept the strike.
2. Switch all faceless account audio to original voice-over from now on. Use the TikTok Commercial Sounds library only.
3. Three strikes = permanent ban. Treat each one seriously.

A BAD CUSTOMER REVIEW GOING VIRAL

1. Do not delete the customer's video. Do not have legal send anything.
2. Reach out privately within 6 hours: "I saw your video. I want to make it right. Can I get a few details?"
3. Once it's resolved, ask the customer if they'd be willing to post a follow-up. ~40% will say yes. Their follow-up undoes the damage and then some.
4. Mercy publicly addresses it on her own account, calmly, within 24 hours. "Someone shared an experience that didn't meet our standard. Here is what I did about it." Honesty disarms.

MERCY IS TRAVELLING / SICK / CANNOT POST

1. The batched content library should cover 10 days minimum at any time. Maintain it.
2. The faceless account does not need Mercy at all — it should keep running.
3. If the gap will be longer than 2 weeks, post a single "I'm taking a quiet week, back on [date]" video. The audience appreciates the honesty, no algorithmic damage.

GLOSSARY — QUICK REFERENCE

Hook	The first 1–1.5 seconds of a video. Determines whether TikTok keeps showing it.
Save	The strongest long-term engagement signal. Drives compounding reach.
Profile visit	A viewer tapped through to the account from the video. Conversion-adjacent metric.
UTM	URL parameters that attribute web traffic to its source. Essential for measuring TikTok's revenue contribution.
3PL	Third-party logistics. A warehouse that holds your stock and ships orders for you.
CFU	Colony-forming unit. Probiotic potency. Strain diversity matters more.
LTV	Lifetime value of a customer. The number that justifies what you spend to acquire one.

A FINAL WORD

TikTok rewards the brands that show up like a person, not like a brand. Pinnacle has the rare advantage of a real founder with a real voice and real products. Run this playbook for 90 days before judging it. Measure what matters. Edit what doesn't. The compounding starts later than you'd like — and lasts longer than you'd expect.
